Captain's Badge of Girl Guides Presented Miss Yuill at Monday's Rally

Coleman Troop Entertain Mother and Visitors With Program and Supper.

On Monday evening Coleman Girl Guides entertained their mothers and leaders of the Guide troops in the Pass towns, including Blairmore and Michel. Miss Florence LeRoy representing the latter troop.

Four recruits were enrolled, and special badges and service stars were awarded to several of the members.

A pleasant feature of the proceedings was the presentation to Miss Yuill of a captain's warrant, by Mrs. A. S. Partington. A short program was given by the Guides, including a one-act play, violin solo by Frances Partington, and vocal solos by Freda Antrobus and Eileen Richards. The Guides sang several choruses.

The evening concluded with a supper provided by the Guides, who waited on their mothers. Mrs. R. P. Borden, district commissioner, present. On account of Christmas examinations in the schools, the Guides will not meet again till January 8.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT AT RIALTO

Good players, indifferent players and mere novices are trying their skill in a big tournament which commenced on Monday, with Jack Hopkins as one of the celebrities. It is a billiard and snooker tournament, about 44 players being entered in each. Agile shots, cushion shots and many shots that have never been seen before or likely to be seen again are being played by the best exponent, but the tournament is proving a popular feature, and some time before Christmas the results will make known who are the local "champs" with the cue on the green covered tables.

AN "IMPRESSIVE" MEMORIAL

A few months ago there met in Geneva a great company of disabled veterans of most of the countries that fought in the great war. Arthur Henderson, president of the Disarmament Conference, addressed them, and in the course of his speech told this story:

"There is a little English village—too small to get on the map. When war broke out in '14 this village had just nineteen boys of military age, and even one of them enlisted. Enrollment was deep when the war ended, for every lad had been killed in action. The village was so stirred that it wished a very impressive memorial, and finally accepted a German field piece and placed it on their central green. On one side of the carriage is a tribute inscribed to the gallant nineteen who died. On the other side is engraved the name of the British company who first sold this gun to the Germans with which British youth—like the nineteen of the village—were ruthlessly mown down."—The Legionary (official magazine of the Canadian Legion.)

Diamond Mining South Africa Provided Interesting Talk Men's Club

Mr. Llewellyn gave Address on Experience of Kimberley Mine Fields.

Diamonds have an alluring attraction for most everyone, and those who heard the address at the weekly meeting on Monday evening in St. Paul's church club room were interested for an hour and a half on the speaker's experiences in the DeBeers and other mines around Kimberley. He showed by rough diagrams how mining was carried on, and the methods employed to extract these precious stones from the rock and alluvial soil of that area.

He also told how every precaution was taken to prevent those working in the mines smuggling diamonds from the workings, and the dangers that ensue from "mud rushes" when getting down to the lower levels, some of which go down to between four and five thousand feet. At times a miner would be flat broke, living on mealy mush; then he would strike it rich and celebrate his good fortune by treating his friends to champagne suppers.

Miners had to be of good character, supplied with at least two references, for the utmost precautions were taken by the mining companies to ensure that all diamonds mined on their property were accounted for. The speaker also told of the rules adopted by native workers to conceal diamonds, and sometimes by the white workers, but they had to be very acute to escape detection, for if discovered, a particularly severe punishment was the penalty, and white men compelled by law to have a permit to retain diamonds as their own possessions, even though they were legally owned by them.

Mr. Llewellyn showed a miner's scales which were so finely adjusted that a hand could turn the balance, and some of the weights used were so small that tweezers were required to pick them from the case. Samples of rock and an uncut diamond were shown in the speaker's exhibits.

He was accorded a hearty vote of thanks, proposed by W. H. Garner, all agreeing that the time had been well spent in hearing the interesting descriptions of how diamonds were recovered from their centuries old formations.

VETERAN CLERGYMAN OF CALGARY GAVE FINE ADDRESS AT MISSION SERVICE

COLEMAN CALEDONIAN SOCIETY SOCIAL

—AT MISSION SERVICE

Rev. Canon Gale, rector of St. John the Divine church in Calgary, interested those who attended the mission service in St. Albans church on Friday evening, Nov. 30. Not only were the clergy giving their lives in service he stated, but every woman attending to her manifold household duties and raising a family, and every man faithfully performing his daily work in the mine store or workshop, was performing a service.

He all realized the power of God, and strived to carry out the Master's will, life would be much happier. All had a cross to bear, and nobody else could carry it but ourselves. The burdens of others may seem lighter to most people, but each was fitted by the grace of God to carry his own burden, and were this remembered we went about our daily tasks, we would find that not only our own crosses became lighter, but we would be able to lighten the burdens of others.

He spoke from the conviction of experience that God would lighten the burdens of all who sought his aid, and related various incidents to illustrate his theme.

The services held here were part of the itinerary of Canon Gale in southern Alberta, in a Diocesan revival inaugurated by Bishop Sherman. All nearly 25 years he has been rector of St. Andrew's church in Calgary, and prior to that was in Macleod for a number of years.

Clergy who attended the services here were Rev. F. Randall Powers of Macleod, Rev. W. R. Jeffcott of Pincher Creek, and Rev. W. Barlow of Brocket. Rev. and Mrs. Partington were host and hostess to the visiting clergy.

Mr. Llewellyn showed a miner's scales which were so finely adjusted that a hand could turn the balance, and some of the weights used were so small that tweezers were required to pick them from the case. Samples of rock and an uncut diamond were shown in the speaker's exhibits.

He was accorded a hearty vote of thanks, proposed by W. H. Garner, all agreeing that the time had been well spent in hearing the interesting descriptions of how diamonds were recovered from their centuries old formations.

THIEVES STEAL AND KILL GESE

Ten geese belonging to a family named Snyder living in East Coleman were stolen on Saturday and three were found plucked and dressed, cached in the bush alongside the river, while three more were found in another spot with their heads chopped off. They were still warm when found by the mounted police. During the previous week another party reported the loss of geese.

Frank Graham Claims Longest Residence in Coleman--Came 1903

Town Now Thirty Years Old, Though Not Incorporated Till the Year 1910.

In response to a query in The Journal two weeks ago as to who had resided longest in a town possibly Frank G. Graham can claim that distinction. He came here in October 1903, built a business block next to the post office, and opened in business in December. He was a heavy loser by fire in 1905, when fire spread from the west end of the street. Alex Cameron came a year later. Another long time resident is Mrs. Ash, while J. O. C. McDonald is one of the early residents who took an active part in school and municipal affairs.

The Journal has an old photograph of the fire brigade in 1910, with Frank Graham standing out as the chief.

Other photos in the same collection are those of James and John Hillcrest, west of Coleman; D. Geo. Patterson, Coleman; finance chief, McIntyre, postmaster; Dr. Westwood, Eastern Township Bank, now occupied as a junior grade school; Coleman baseball club (moustaches and all), the late Harry Gate, at that time sanitary inspector; L. A. Seller, solicitor; A. M. Morrison, who carries a "garter" imposing appendage to his name as deputy grand president of Alberta and Saskatchewan Fraternal Order of Eagles; the late W. L. Outmette, then president of the Board of

Blairmore Festival Showed Surplus for 1933--Officers Elected

Musical Festival Committee Enlarges Area to Include Lethbridge.

The annual meeting of the general committee was held in the Greenhill Hotel on Nov. 29. I. L. Morgan presiding, and representatives were present from the Pass towns.

On a motion of E. G. Cruickshank, the area from which competitors may enter was enlarged to include Medicine Hat on the east and north to Okotoks and Blackie. The festival will be held in October 1934, and the dates approximately the same as the 1933 festival.

The financial statement showed a surplus, which enables the committee to make extensive plans for next year.

L. L. Morgan, president of the association for nine years, refused to allow his name to be submitted for re-election. The committee were unanimous in expressing their regret in losing such a capable president, and no amount of pleading would alter his decision.

The unanimous choice for president was H. T. Halliwell, who has been a member of the general committee for several years. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, J. E. Upton of Blairmore; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Farmer, Blairmore; executive committee, L. L. Morgan, Chardon, Mrs. L. L. Morgan, Blairmore; Dr. G. B. Rose and W. H. Moser, Hillcrest; Frank Graham standing out as the chief.

Outmette, then president of the Board of Appreciation was expressed by the executive for the support and entries from Coleman for the 1933 festival, and it is hoped that increased interest will be shown for the 1934 event.

"Souls or Skulls", whichever way they are split suits George Von Opel, who has the "Bonne Soula" at Hillcrest, England, and who was a winner at Toronto, Canada, for he has just returned from a month of hunting south of Banff, world famous Canadian Pacific Rocky Mountain Resort, and has brought back with him some splendid specimens of big game skulls. After booking for a two weeks' trip he found a special guide that he wanted, Mr. George Elk, most notable moose-hunter, Rocky Mountain Goat, and Bighorn Sheep. He added to his collection while hunting south, but failed to get a grizzly. For two days he trailed one big fellow but the inclement and changeable weather was with, made success impossible. ## Is This Progress?

Were it not for the occasional event of great significance, civilization would stagger on towards whatever goal it is heading, without mankind being any the wiser, or the more acutely aware of its steady progression. World statesmen occasionally venture the prediction that another great war inevitably would wreck the civilization of today; and the statements of these prominent men would undoubtedly be taken at their face value, were it not for sporadic manifestations of the dynamic basis which distinguishes western civilization. Other men of renown have said civilization has no goal, no great achievements to its credit. In that it is not increasing and has not increased, the sum total of human happiness. But again, some event hits the front pages of the daily newspapers indicating its triumphal march-somewhere, which completely confounds Cassandra-like prophets and clamants of stagnation.

The events which have called forth this opening paragraph are, of course, those which occurred recently in the great and glorious State of California. There, two confessed kidnapers were summarily lynched by an irate, small-town crowd which, instead of being punished for usurping the functions of the state itself, are exonerated and even lauded by the chief dignitaries of that state. In fact, Governor Rolph was so far from taking positive measures against the crowd which (perhaps) saved his hangman's job, that he is to press his wish that the law had the power to release all kidnapers held in California State prisons to the tender mercies of the same crowd. He might, he added, act as a deterrent to kidnapers elsewhere in the United States. What civilization marches.

Possibly there is merit in his contention. It is equally true, however, that rigorous enforcement of laws designed to serve his administration would serve the selfsame purpose and achieve as good results. If his commendation is to mean that lynch law can be invoked with impunity in the warfare against kidnapping, it might be urged that the cure is as bad as the disease. In fact, the cure was itself a disease which it took more than half a century of repression to eradicate. Governor Rolph is dabbling in a strive for sympathy; and perhaps he would be employed better in tightening up the law and its enforcement, through the police and the courts, than thus encouraging revival of a discredited atavism. That law-breakers should lynch law-breakers is, in effect, a protest against the law's delays and not the inefficiency of a law-enforcing machinery. Perhaps then, Governor Rolph should begin the clean-up against kidnapers nearer his own office.

They have a new premier in France. M. Chautemps is, in fact, the 101st premier France has had in some 63 years. Apparently the motto over the door of the office reserved for the chief executive in France is "Here today, gone tomorrow."

Old Lawrence Sterne it was who said: "They do things better in France." It would be hard to persuade those accustomed to the more staid and dignified British process of placing and replacing Prime Ministers to agree with this sweeping statement. Changes in the French cabinet are made without involving the machinery of an election. They just change—that is, unless the minister comes, and collects a cabinet around him, not of those adhering to his own political party or even sharing his political faith. He selects such individuals as appear to him sufficient of a loyal following among their particular group as will ensure him a majority of the deputies. The parliament runs its course. Ministers change without consulting their platform to the people. The system of government from the people, and tends inevitably to place the real authority in the higher class of permanent officials of the civil service. Responsible government, as Canadians know it, is impossible under such a system, while the bargaining that invariably precedes the formation of a French cabinet injects a pork-barrel element into the political arena which is repugnant to western minds.

Shipment Arrived In First Class Condition

British Firm Well Satisfied With Honey From Saskatchewan

Saskatchewan honey arrived in Great Britain in first class condition.

The honey, a caried shipment, was sent to Britain on the S.S. Brandon, via the Hudson Bay, to British importing firms.

R. W. Pugh, provincial apiculturist, stated that W. Watson, Saskatchewan markets representative in England, and Mr. Keith, of the Canadian publicity department, made a personal inspection of the honey at the London dock. They write that the honey landed in first class condition, the cartons being clean and the honey in a uniformly good state.

The British importing firm to which the honey shipment was consigned, writes as follows: "We are exceedingly satisfied as the honey has been delivered in excellent condition and the quality is first class."

Japanese Soldiers To Report On Silk And Wool Cloth

Official amusement expressed by the Japanese War Office over a report that silk uniforms were to be provided for the soldiers, has apparently been retracted. Experimental uniforms have now been issued to some battalions. Some of the uniforms are made entirely of silk, but most of the cloth is a mixture of wool and raw silk. The silk-clad soldiers will be asked what they think of the new uniforms and especially in preserving warmth, effects of rain and snow on them, cost of washing and repairing.

The world record is held in Germany and exceeds thirty-six hours.

"See your doctor, not your undertaker," was the advice of Dr. C. J. Miller, of New Orleans left at the American College of Surgeons, for those who neglect to check up on their health occasionally.

He revealed that in spite of great advances in hygiene in the last 30 years, many thousands of persons are "called" before their time simply from their own neglect.

Smallpox, for example, is almost completely preventable; yet, he said, there are 100,000 cases of it each year in the United States. Typhoid also is almost 100 per cent. preventable, he declared, but nearly 8,000 die of the disease annually.

Woman, 109 Years Old, Gives Some Good Advice

Women, if you want to live to be 100, among other things, don't put anything on your face that you wouldn't put in your stomach.

Such was the advice of Dr. Marie Charlotte De Goede Davenport, born 109 years ago, she said, in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, Russia. The doctor, on a lecture tour, gave the following formula for long life:

"Never get angry; learn self-control; develop agility; be quick and lithe, not muscle-bound; avoid excesses in all things; don't put anything on your face that you wouldn't put in your stomach; don't let your mind die."

Coal King's Rise And Fall

Valuable Treasures Collected By Pennsylvania Man Sold For Song

Under a mammoth circus tent, on a weed-grown estate where once played some of the world's most glamorous social lights, an auctioneer at Uniontown, Pennsylvania, barked out the epilogue of a drama of the rise and fall of a king of coal. And as piece after piece of the treasures collected from the world by the late J. V. Thompson fell under the hammer, the husky-voiced bidder shouted, "What they're going for—going for a song?" They continued to "sing" and three hours after the sale began a throng of art connoisseurs and society notables had spent only about $11,000. The highest price paid for any article was $2,400 for a beautiful Kirimish rug which Thompson bought for $20,000 while on a honeymoon in Constantinople with his Broadway showgirl bride, Honey Hawes. A richly designed Italian scarf, the first article to be sold, brought $18. A $7,500 abaya tabriz Persian rug went for $685.

Profit In Forestry

Under Proper Conditions Tree Growing Promises Sure Returns

Planting forests frequently has been praised as profitable business, but generally has not made much of appeal to private enterprise. The crop is too long in growing. Nevertheless, as an undertaking for governments and for long-lived institutions tree growing under proper conditions promises sure returns.

Foresters of Michigan State College recently estimated the crop value of a planting of white pine made on college lands forty years ago. The land was valued as worth the time at $15 per acre, and the total cost of trees, planting labor and all other expenses in connection with the project has been $22.75 an acre. The value of the timber on each acre at present market prices is estimated at $158.75.

College authorities therefore compute that the trees have earned compound interest at the rate of 4.05 per cent for forty-two years.

Writing For The Cinema

Canadian Films Will Soon Be Taking Prominent Place

Capt. Howie, a member of the board of directors of the Canadian Film Producers, addressed the Canadian Women's Press Club at Toronto on "Writing for the Cinema." He traced the history of the industry generally and particularly in Canada, expressing his conviction that in an unbelievably brief period the Canadian film will be taking its place among the pictures of the world—the depth of the fact that so far Canada had been so lagging in the race that she might be considered as having hardly started.

The speaker compared the films of various countries pointing out their fine qualities and the reverse, assuring his audience that he was not only people qualified to write for the cinema but that Canada had the material for the production of films that should be second to none.

People Travelling In Europe Forget Most Foreigners Speak English

An Englishman who had lost his language but his own had lost his way in Rome. In his perplexity it occurred to him to write the name of his hotel in large letters on his card and hand it to the first foreign-looking individual he met.

An Italian thus accosted turned, and with the charming manners of his race, accompanied the perturbed Englishman for about 20 minutes in silence until they reached the hotel designated. Then the tourist paid out valuable thanks in the only language at his command.

The Italian looked at him in amazement, then remarked in perfect English: "I thought you were deaf and dumb!"

Still interested in living her century over again, Mrs. Miranda W. Hillyard recently entered her 103rd year. She was born in Frost Village, Quebec, in 1831, and has a vivid recollection of the soldiers scouring the district in 1837 on the hunt for Papineau's rebels.

Her parents were Edmund Winchester and his wife, Dorothy Durrell, both of United Empire loyalists. In early life Mrs. Hillyard came to Ontario, and married her husband Robert Hillyard, a banker, died in St. Mary's in 1893. Her one son served in the South African war in 1900, and settled in that country. She has a married daughter in Philadelphia and another at home.

Lord Lonsdale's Model Estate

Every Small Detail Of Management Watched Over

Lord Lonsdale, in addition to his many-sided sporting interests, is chairman of a publishing firm. He has wonderful ways with animals—in particular with horses and dogs and birds. At meal times at Lowther each privileged dog comes into the dining-room, goes sedately to its own particular corner, and there settles quietly with one eye fixed watchfully on Lord Lonsdale's movements. The stables would give any maker of films a mass of material no other establishment these days could offer, says the Overseas Mail. They are magnificently run in the old-fashioned English manner—as, indeed, the whole house is—without any regard to the modern love of informality and speed. Lord Lonsdale has kept all his old coaches and carriages—in themselves a small museum which will interest future generations. All of them are painted the bright yellow which makes his cars so recognizable at race meetings today. And he himself watches every small detail of the estate's management—even to the laying out of the gardens, which was done to his particular instructions; Italian, French, and so on.

Air Fields Across Canada

Within A Year Stations Will Be Ready For Service

A year from now air fields across Canada will be ready for a trans-Canada air service, Brigadier J. Lindsay Gordon, commanding officer of M.D. 12, told the Young Men's Board of Trade at Regina.

Single unemployed, Brigadier Gordon pointed out were doing work that would prove a boon to the future of aviation in Canada. The great obstacle to a trans-Canada route in the past, the mountainous part of Ontario, was the scene of parts of the route, which would have a terminus in Newfoundland.

He spoke of the possibility of competing with the United States in Oriental silk shipments, although, he said, passenger traffic was so small in Canada as not to merit the operation of an air line simply for passenger purposes.

Foreclosure Proceedings

Large Tracts Of Land In Manitoba and Saskatchewan Are Involved

Foreclosure proceedings involving first mortgage debentures in excess of $850,000 and second mortgage debentures of $713,000 on large tracts of land in Saskatchewan and Manitoba settled during the past eight years by Mennonites have been taken in Saskatchewan courts. By an order made recently arrears must be paid by October 3, 1934, or foreclosure will become absolute.

The debenture bonds first issued were sold to large investors in Canada while the second issue bonds were sold mainly to Mennonites already settled in Canada and the United States. The company promoting the settlements was the Intercontinental Company. The National Trust Company has been named trustee for the first mortgage debenture holders.

The decision of the court does not affect the position of the numerous settlers.

Central Bank In Dominion To Stabilize Currency Values

Sherbrooke, Que.—Establishment of a central bank in Canada to exert a stabilizing influence on currency values will be provided for by legislation to be introduced at the next session of parliament, said Premier R. B. Bennett in a speech and address here. Premier Bennett was the guest of eastern townships Conservative organizations and spoke before 6,000 persons in the Sherbrooke armory, Saturday, Dec. 2.

"The credit of Canada is the collective reputation of its people," the premier said. "And there can be no restoration of prosperity in Canada until stability of currency is achieved. One of our major difficulties in this connection is the fact we have no direct communication between the financial centre of Canada and London.

"We are subject in this matter to the domination of Wall Street, of a foreign power. And we have determined to rectify this situation by the establishment of a central bank for the purpose of stabilizing monetary values and thus enabling business to progress without constant recourse to a foreign power."

Tariffs, trade, unemployment and principles of his government were the major subjects discussed by the premier. The audience rose and cheered when Mr. Bennett concluded his plea for national unity "to achieve slow progression along the road to normal prosperity." He was anxious, said the premier, to avoid a boom "which will inevitably entail another depression." What was noted was a period of prosperity in which "the economic machine of Canada may function smoothly and efficiently."

How had democracy in Canada sustained the shock of the "unparalleled catastrophe," which descended on the world in 1929?

"It," said Premier Bennett, answering his own question "the people of Canada have retained their devotion to their country, if the banks have always honored the cheques written against accounts deposited with them, if our insurance companies have lived up to their obligations, if our people have not withered under economic stress, then it can truly be said that the shock has been nobly sustained in more than an economic sense. And for my part I am proud to be a Canadian and to head a government which has helped the country withstand this shock."

"There are distinct evidences of catastrophe has ended," continued the premier after giving statistics which he interpreted as evidence of economic regeneration in Canada. "The ideal condition of depression has been reached." As we face this winter, grim and difficult though it may be, we now see the silver lining behind the dark clouds and the dawn of a new and bright future. That is my message to you."

Victoria, B.C.—Premier T. D. Patullo, of British Columbia, sent telegrams to Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba, Premier J. T. M. Anderson, of Saskatchewan, and Premier J. C. Brownlie, of Alberta, inviting them to meet here early in December to discuss relief and unemployment.

Imperial Co-operation

Strong Policy Is Necessary To Overcome Difficulties

London, Eng.—"We must recognize that for the time being world co-operation is impossible, and concentrate upon deviating world-wide war of the British Empire can help us to overcome immediate difficulties and get our people back in employment," declared Stanley Bruce, Australian high commissioner to Britain, in a speech before the Empire Association.

Failure of world conferences and of world co-operation made a driving force embracing the whole Empire imperative, said the former Australian prime minister. He suggested creation of a small group of the best men available, to devote all their time to formulation of a strong rescue policy of imperial co-operation.

Obstacles to British trade have arisen in the form of prohibitions, quotas, and tariffs, Mr. Bruce went on, and the development of Japan with her different standards of living had created a new problem. The paramount necessity at present was a strong policy of imperial co-operation, in his opinion. He suggested such a group as he mentioned might be presided over by a British cabinet minister, if that were deemed desirable.

Messages Of Condolence

King And Queen Send Message To Lady Currie

Montreal, Que.—Lady Currie received two messages from His Excellency the Governor-General, one on behalf of King George and the other a personal one from Lord Bessborough, expressing condolence in death of Sir Arthur Currie.

Lord Bessborough sent the following message to Lady Currie on behalf of King George:

"I am commanded by His Majesty the King to convey to yourself and the members of your family the heartfelt sympathy of His Majesty and of Her Majesty the Queen."

The Governor-General's personal message follows:

"I have learned with deep regret of the death of your most distinguished husband. His passing is a loss, not only to the university and the city in which he claimed him but to all Canadians, especially those who had served under him as soldiers."

Ready For Arms Talk

France Willing To Negotiate With Hitler Through Ambassadors

Paris, France—France is ready for arms talks directly with Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany through ambassadors, foreign office officials indicated, but all decisions they think must be made in consultation with others of the war-time allies.

Premier Mussolini's pressure to realize the four-power peace pact signed by France, Germany, Italy and Great Britain, and the British disposition to mediate, it was said, tend toward direct negotiations because France is anxious to avoid little group meetings where she would be urged to sign on the dotted line.

Policy Of Britain Is Principal Nations Should Seek Air Power Parity

London, Eng.—Emphasis to Britain's policy that the principal nations of the world should share parity of air power was given in the House of Lords by the Marquess of Londonderry, secretary for air. It was coupled with the threat that if other nations are unwilling to reduce their air arms to the level of Britain's this nation will "have no option but to begin to build upwards."

The House of Lords was presented with figures purporting to show Britain has lost her position of first ranking air power, and has fallen to fifth place. With this was coupled the opinion that the British air force is considered a defense arm.

The marquess' remarks, considered an expression of government policy, caused one of the most extraordinary scenes ever witnessed in the House of Commons when members found themselves unable to gain any information on it from government leaders in that chamber.

To the lords the marquess said: "The approval for an increase in American air strength and the embarkation of an enlarged program by the Japanese and Russians are causing great concern. He expressed the hope the powers would agree on figures that would bring parity at the lowest possible figure."

A sharp issue arose in the House of Lords when Major-General J. A. L. Hobart, walked over from the House of Lords where he had been listening to Lord Londonderry and attempted to question the government on that peer's statement.

For hours previously the House had been debating a private member's motion—a motion which affords opportunity for debate but does not bind the government—urging inadequacy of the present air defence.

Market For Liquors

United States To Seek Exchange Of Commodities Abroad

Washington.—The United States will give Canada and other countries a market for their liquors in exchange for a place to sell surplus farm and industrial products.

Such reciprocal trade agreements are now in process of negotiation with several countries.

Government officials made this known at a hearing on a code for importers that would give the federal alcohol control administration authority to limit the volume and origin of wine and spirits imports on a quota basis.

Hastening the administration's plan to be in complete control of the liquor situation December 5—the repeat date

President Roosevelt at Warm Springs named the five members of the federal alcohol control administration that will supervise the industry until congress can enact permanent legislation.

Disclosure of the government's intention to barter with foreign liquor exporting countries to lower tariff trade barriers to United States products was made by Mortimer Ezekiel, economic adviser to Secretary for Agriculture Henry Wallace, in testifying at the importers' code hearing.

Although he declined to say with what countries the government was discussing the proposition, Ezekiel said France, Germany and Italy were the largest wine exporting nations and that these had imposed more restrictions against United States farm products than most countries.

Christmas Broadcast

Bells From Church Of The Nativity At Bethlehem To Be Heard

Ottawa, Ont.—The Canadian radio broadcasting commission arranged to co-operate with the British broadcasting corporation in its plans for an empire Christmas broadcast program. The program will include messages from Ottawa to other parts of the empire.

"For the revised plans of the British broadcasting corporation, one part of the empire broadcast will take place December 24. This will be a broadcast from Bethlehem of the bells of the Church of the Nativity.

On Christmas Day the broadcast will start at 9 a.m. (EST), in Canada.

The first 45 minutes will be largely taken up with a description of the celebration of Christmas in various parts of the old land. The following 15 minutes, until 10 a.m. (EST.), will be occupied by messages of greeting from various parts of the empire.

Finally, from 10 to 10:05 a.m., there will be a message from Sandringham by King George VI.

The Canadian radio commission has arranged to bring the program to Canada by trans-Atlantic cable and will distribute it over its network wires to broadcasting stations in all parts of the country.

Limit On Dumping Duty

Ottawa, Ont.—An order was issued by the Department of National Revenue late Wednesday that Canada would not impose a dumping duty to offset depreciated currencies of foreign countries unless the foreign currency was at a discount of over five per cent. in relation to the Canadian dollar. This will have a far-reaching effect in connection with imports from the United States.

Toronto, Ont.—The horse has come to his aid and the money comes back western Canada will follow. Such is the belief of Arthur Thompson, of Saskatoon, foreman, for C. M. Read, prominent Saskatchewan Purchaser breeder.

Mr. Thompson can prove the first part of his assertion with money for he bought 12 horses to the Royal Winter Fair. Five of them he took back west. The rest went east.

A Montreal purchaser took six of the big Saskatchewan-bred greys at $1,000 apiece. The Quebec government bought the seventh, the Belgian stallion Caesar de Masterpiece. The total paid for the seven is said to be the biggest sale by any one horse exhibitor at this year's royal.

"There is more demand for horses right now than there has been since the royals began," Mr. Thompson said. "I've shown at what once I saw, the first, and I know what I'm talking about."

Arthur Thompson has more than his experience at this year's royal to support his belief that the horse is once more rising superior to the internal combustion engine. "One hundred carloads of horses" he said, "went east out of Alberta and Saskatchewan this fall—all consigned to Quebec. If things once get started down with us again, we'll have to come down east inside of two years and buy back west again."

The west will come back with the horse is the western horseman's opinion. He quoted more proof: five years ago the biggest wholesale harness dealers in Saskatoon sold just $500 worth of harness in a whole year. This spring the same company sold $30,000 worth of harness.

Resigns From Cabinet

E. B. Ryckman Resigns Duties On Account Of Ill Health

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue has resigned, according to an announcement made by the Prime Minister.

Ryckman, K.C., M.P., Minister of National Revenue since the formation of the present government in 1930, has been compelled to relinquish his ministerial duties because of failing health. He has tendered his resignation to the Prime Minister and has accepted the same. Mr. Ryckman remains a member of the House of Commons."

"The Prime Minister and the members of the government keenly regret that one of their colleagues is compelled, for reasons of health, to resign his cabinet position and earnestly hope that a period of complete rest will restore him to his normal health."

No mention has yet been made in official circles of a successor to Mr. Ryckman.

Says Canada Should Lead In Establishing A Wheat Board

Calgary, Alberta—Wheat marketing boards for the large wheat exporting countries of the world, each with control of the entire production of its country, were suggested by Premier J. E. Browne of Alberta, in an address to the annual meeting of the Alberta wheat pool. The government leader suggested Canada should take the lead and establish such a wheat board. The wheat problem would never be solved under the present marketing system, he said.

Intimating the next few months will be methodical, considered in Canada, the legislature will plan for wheat acreage limitation, the premier said. The plan must only be considered as a temporary measure to aid general world recovery. He recommended each individual farmer reduce acreage and each country place sale of its wheat under own control, he said.

Discussing financial policies, Mr. Browne said he hoped when a settled monetary policy was achieved by the United States it would be accepted as a standard for the world. He blamed the world's surplus of wheat on financial policies of Canada and the United States in adhering so long to the gold standard.

The recent international wheat conference in London was the first attempt to break down extreme nationalism. Hon. M. A. MacPherson, Attorney-General for Saskatchewan, told pool members here.

"There is some hope in the world that reason will prevail when 22 nations can get together around a table and agree on an international policy," he said. Mr. MacPherson, who attended the London conference, reviewed the many problems of the present wheat situation.

Hon. John Bracken, Premier of Manitoba, also addressed the delegates.

Mr. Bracken said the problem of grain production had been solved "where it is capable of being solved."

"The problem not solved," he said. "The question of distribution of wealth produced and it is a far more difficult one."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

In community activities, when any work is to be done, it is usually the busy people who shoulder the responsibility. Nobody goes to a lazy person to ask him to undertake a share of the work. The willing horse is often saddled with more than a fair share. Yet the lazy people share in the benefits that may result from the activities of others, and not infrequently instead of offering a word of encouragement they criticize.

Many do not think; they do not act, yet wonder why others forge ahead, and bemoan their own fate. A comparative few develop their ability to organize and foster community welfare activities, relying on a response to their efforts in the interest of those whom they unselfishly serve.

Take as examples Board of Trade, church or social activities. These are essential to a town's progress, yet how few in Coleman really take an active interest in these matters. It should be remembered that we must cultivate the soil of good fellowship; we must put something of ourselves into local activities which are carried on for the good of all, for that is the only way in which we progress, individually or collectively. By all means support those who give of their time and energy. They make time to attend to these various duties, and usually it is the busy people who give the most time.

Sir Arthur W. Currie, best known throughout the British Empire as Commander of the Canadian Corps during the Great War, has passed on, honored by Canada and the Empire which he nobly served. His death at the comparatively early age of 57 years leaves a void in the hearts of the Canadians, and especially of those who served overseas. Well might Canada be proud of her soldier son who earned the confidence of the higher commands during the war and who so ably commanded the volunteer warriors from the land of the Maple Leaf. From school teacher to the most important command in a great crisis is a record which can be reviewed with justifiable pride. Long will his memory be enshrined in Canada's history of the war, with those thousands of happy warriors who fought under him and now lie sleeping.

The interesting talk given by Mr. Llewellyn at the Men's Brotherhood meeting on Monday evening, on diamond mining in South Africa, recalled the stirring days of the Boer war from 1899 to 1902, and the reflection that it was the mineral wealth beneath the ground of the Orange Free State and the Transvaal which really led up to that war. The Boer farmers, under Oom Paul Kruger and President Steyn, had little regard for that vast hidden treasure, which was covered by outside mining interests, and it has often been remarked that had there been no diamonds or gold in that country, it is highly improbable that such a war would have occurred.

The Boers were content to farm their lands, and did not desire the invasion of mining capitalists. But greed for wealth prevailed, and combined with Kruger's harsh terms whereby the franchise was withheld from nations of other countries, "Uitlanders" as they were termed by the Afrikaners, it resulted in the armed forces of Great Britain being pitted against those gallant defenders of their country in a struggle of three and a half years. Happily United South Africa was organized from the wreck of the republics of the Free State and the Transvaal, combined with Cape Colony, but many a bitter memory remains among those men who fought under Joubert, De Wet, Botha and other prominent Boer generals.

A Community meeting in Houston, Texas, the Houston Chronicle chronicles, opened with prayer and the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee." One of the speakers said the city's unemployment relief agency should not expect people to go to commissaries to get food and clothing but should "bring it out to our houses." Our own Casual Commune wishes to add that it should also be brought to the door.

Of course in Russia, food and clothing are delivered to every commissary door—or haven't we heard of people standing in line for hours to get a meal of receiving free relief, but of buying with their hard-earned rubles a little butter, a little bread?—Christian Science Monitor.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waits, Shawnee, Okla.
That the policy of the stores of your home city is not to sell cheap goods, but to sell the best for the least money.

The watchword of your local business concerns is service.

Concentration of their efforts has enabled them to offer the merchandise which you require.

They can at all times fill your definite needs and desires.

They carry merchandise made to sell and to serve—merchandise which will fill every requirement.

Often you find a few merchants who assume that the people of their community know that they are in business and will patronize them.

Local merchants of the home city take nothing for granted. They have a quick turnover of stock and keep their stocks up-to-date and moving rapidly with the aid of newspaper advertising.

Business concerns of the home city are working to give you definite, dependable service. You should spend your money where you get your money's worth—and that is in your own home town!

And—merchants should always advertise in their home town weekly newspaper.

Statesmen view with alarm the recent pact made between the United States and the Russian Soviet government wherein recognition has been given the Soviet after sixteen years. Trade between these two countries will no doubt be stimulated but it is a recognized fact that Russia lacks much of the supplies and materials needed to carry on a war with Japan, which is not a remote possibility. While sinister motives may not be underlying principles of the pact, the way has been opened, and President Roosevelt may regret his rather hasty move. The big armament interests are very likely not passing up opportunity.—Viking News.

Business exists for making profits. When profits disappear, business likewise disappears. The satisfaction of labor working for an adequate wage, of the consuming public for an adequate supply of goods at reasonable prices, of the investor for a return on his money, of the government for an unimpaired source of tax returns, are all dependent uniformly upon the profitable operation of business.—Western Canada Coal Review.

"If there were fewer buyers at pauper prices there would be fewer concerns offering goods at a pauper price."

HOW TO DISCIPLINE

"I believe in good, old-fashioned discipline, but it must be used with the help of love. We cannot teach discipline to children unless we have learned self-control ourselves,"—Lady Stamps.

Left: "Extraordinary thing, but before our triplets came my wife went to see 'The Three Musketeers.'" Right: "Good heavens! Mine has gone to see 'The Birth of a Nation'—Western Canada Coal Review.

FUNERAL OF MRS. APPONEN

Many friends from Coleman and other towns attended the funeral services of Mrs. Ida Apponen on Thursday, Nov. 30. A short service was held at the home in East Coleman, following which the committal service was conducted by Rev. Roy C. Taylor at the union cemetery.

After suffering for about five years, Mrs. Apponen passed away in Lethbridge on Nov. 26. She was born in Lahti, Finland, and came to this district with her husband in 1910, first to Bellevue, then to Coleman. Besides her husband, the members of the family are: Gus of Creston, Arthur now living in Finland; Nilo, Jennie, (Mrs. Shaw of Calgary); Fred, Corbin; Louis, stenographer at International offices; Aileen and Billy.

Many expressions of sympathy were received by the family in their bereavement.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Kustaa Apponen and family desire to thank their friends for expressions of sympathy in their bereavement; also those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral. Thanks are also expressed to the doctors and nurses for their kind services during the illness of Mrs. Apponen.

DEATH OF MRS. RAYMOND

Ester Ann, wife of Mr. Seth Raymond, died on Sunday, following a lengthy illness, and the funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, who live on Second Street and had lived here for ten years.

Her birthplace was Ulverton, Hampshire, Wales, and she was 48 years and two months of age. The family have the sympathy of the community in their loss.

Many friends from Pass towns attended the funeral, and Rev. Roy Taylor gave a sympathetic address, referring to the life of the departed, and giving words of comfort to the bereaved. The committal service was conducted in a heavy snowstorm which commenced early in the afternoon.

Many flowers were sent by relatives and friends, and the Welsh Society was represented by most of the members.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Seth Raymond and family desire to thank those who sent flowers, those who loaned cars for the funeral, the Welsh Society for their attendance, the doctors and nurses, and all who sent messages of sympathy in their bereavement.

The wardens of St. Alban's church are sending out an appeal to all parishioners to help in raising $250 by Dec. 31 to pay all current liabilities so that the new year may commence without any debts.

They point out that a little help from everyone would enable them to accomplish this, and hope to present a clear balance sheet at the annual meeting to be held on Monday, January 8, 1934, which is to be followed by a social hour and refreshments in the parish hall.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

The minister will conduct the worship Sunday morning, Dec. 10 in St. Paul's United church, and Rev. A. Lytle of the Bible Society will preach. The junior choir will sing.

Wins Poultry Prizes

Dick Irvin, Famous Hockey Player Is Poultry Fancier

Dick Irvin, coach of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team, knows how to turn out smart poultry as well as smart hockey players. He showed the best Wyandotte cockerel at the Royal Winter Fair and captured sixth and seventh prizes with a hen and a pullet.

This is the second time the well-known sportsman has walked off with honors for chickens at the Royal. He showed for the first time last year, and at that time won third and fourth prizes. Wyandottes. Mr. Irvin took home Regalia, and his win makes the first time this prize has been taken by the west.

There are others in the sports world who chase pucks in the winter and raise chickens, cows and horses in the summer, it was learned. Buzz Bell, of the Maple Leafs, Mr. Irvin said, has a ranch at Regina. The famous Boston Bruin hold-out, Eddie Shore, and the Cook Brothers of the New York Rangers are neighbors, as distances go in the west, of the Irvin ranch.

Mr. Irvin has been raising chickens for 22 years—ever since he demonstrated a preference for Regina over his native city, Hamilton.

He also raises racing pigeons and Great Danes.

"I'm coming back to get the Legion prize next year," he said.

A Hungry Population

Following is an estimate of what the London Zoo needs for food for its animals: Apples, 8 tons; oranges, 2 tons; carrots, 10 lbs.; sunflowers, 50 lbs.; oranges, 14,689; meat, many tons; eggs, 200,000; syrup, 201 lbs.; condensed milk, 18,000 lbs.; and 456 gal. cans; dates, 18 cwt.; nuts, 15,000 lbs.; biscuits, 15 tons; honey, 51 lbs.; bread, 6 tons; vegetables, 30 tons; fish, 15 tons.

A New Antiseptic

A new antiseptic with extraordinarily powerful germicidal properties has been announced by Western Reserve University at Cleveland, Ohio. The substance was described as 1,202 times as powerful as carbolic acid in killing pathogenic bacteria, yet is non-poisonous, non-destructive to tissues of the body, colorless in solution, odorless, tasteless and non-corrosive surgical instruments.

Prison Has Model Dairy

Surroundings Of Reformatory At Bakersfield, California Are Attractive

Bring a rosy-cheeked milkmaid in an American English, and great attraction for any woman, ancient or modern, according to the theory of Sheriff Carl Walser of Kern County, California, himself a typical western sheriff and a first-class cowhand.

"They will get tired of it," commented Sheriff Walser, on a visit to the new State Prison for Women, which includes a model dairy. The sheriff's comment was prompted by the arrival of thirty additional women prisoners from San Quentin. The first contingent of 28 women arrived at the new institution last month. The prison will soon provide sanctuary for 145 women prisoners.

The model reformatory is in a secluded valley fifty miles east of Bakersfield in the mountains.

Each inmate has an attractive room, and each dormitory has a separate kitchen and dining room.

The group of buildings was erected at a cost of $500,000 on an 18,000-acre farm which the women will operate.

Motorists Meet Crocodile

Contended Right-Of-Way On Kenya Colony Bridge

A huge bridge which spans the head waters of the Nile at Jinja, Kenya Colony, carrying rail and road traffic, is also spanned by wild animals. Two motorists were startled when their lighted picket met the huge form of a crocodile, which snapped its jaws threateningly, and refused to move. The motorists were compelled to shoot it.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DECEMBER 10

PAUL IN CAESAREA

Golden Text: "Verily I also exhort myself to have a conscience void of offense toward God and men always."—Acts 24:16.

Lesson: Acts, Chapter 21, 26.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 2:1-4.

Explanations and Comments:

Answered By Pauline 24:1-9. Lydia, the Chief Captain, had charged Paul's accusers to appear against him before Felix. Within five days the high priest Ananias with a delegation from Jerusalem arrived in Caesarea. Paul was summoned for trial. Tertullus, the advocate whom the Jews had engaged, presented their case against Paul. After the first words of Tertullus, for whom expressing gratitude for his reforms, Tertullus accused "this pestilent fellow" of three things: inciting disturbances in the temple, teaching that Jesus Christ was greater than the Roman Empire—an offense against the Roman law; being the leader of the sect of the Nazarenes, an offense against the Jewish law; and desiring to tempt an offense against both the law of Moses and the Roman law, since the latter preceded the former in time. When Tertullus concluded his speech, he asked that all he said might be written down.

Paul's Defense: 24:10-21.—When Tertullus had finished his speech, Paul stood up and made his defense. Paul stood up and made his defense. Paul with quiet dignity answered the charges that had been brought against him. He had been brought before Felix because he had been saying that he spoke with great confidence because Felix had judged his nation for some time and was well acquainted with the state of affairs in Palestine. Paul had been accused of being a disturber of the peace, of being a teacher of customs which were contrary to the Roman law, and of being a follower of the Nazarene sect. Paul denied that he was a disturber of the peace, and that he had been brought before Felix because he had been saying that he spoke with great confidence because he had judged his nation for some time and was well acquainted with the state of affairs in Palestine. Paul had been accused of being a disturber of the peace, of being a teacher of customs which were contrary to the Roman law, and of being a follower of the Nazarene sect.

Nations Cannot Dictate To Germany

Says Sir John Simon

Sir John Simon, secretary for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons that Britain is resolved to do everything possible to make Germany, which withdrew from the disarmament conference at Geneva last year, a partner again.

Sir John said there could have been no procedure more calculated to "drive the iron into Germany's soul" than to have told her that withdrawal from the conference made no difference—that the convention would be completed and then she be asked to sign on the dotted lines.

"Germany," said Sir John, "is not a target for dictation; she is a partner for discussion."

Her majesty the government already has taken steps to play its full part in endeavoring to promote diplomatic consultations.

The foreign secretary told the legislature:

"We have already made it plain to the French Government—unhappily that government fell last night, but I don't believe in this respect that the French policy will change—but if she saw her way to enter into our communications with Berlin, they would have our complete good will in doing so."

The British Government, Sir John said, had communicated to Chancellor Hitler of Germany "that the whole of our influence would be used for the purpose of trying to bring about a spirit of negotiation and co-operative action instead of keeping Germany at a distance."

"We also," said Sir John, "have communicated to Italy how well satisfied we were to learn she agrees with us in keeping the conference in being, and how satisfied we were that the present procedure, which Italy has been urging on us, was the correct procedure."

Souvenir Of The War

Only Thing Englishman Had Was Leaf Certificate

As a result of a chance encounter in Charing Cross post office a week or two ago, I dined the other night with an old comrade of the war.

This gentleman, though a seafarer, was a private in the ranks of the same battalion as myself, was then, as he still is, a man of considerable wealth. He has a fine house in Mayfair, a very pleasant country place too, several cars, and a big staff of domestic servants, including a smart ex-service chauffeur.

He was a pilot in the R.A.F. during the war and married since going over to us in 1918, on his return he joined both of us on a stretcher. After dinner the talk was naturally of old army days.

I asked my friend whether he had any souvenirs, in addition to those fifteen-year-old scars, of the Great Adventure. "Only that," he said, pointing with his cigar at a small framed document on his smoke-room wall. It was a leave certificate, d/l/ signed by an army M.O., vouching that my host was free from vermin and scabies."

Among The Missing

A little boy surprised his parents by refusing to be scared into being good.

"It's no good telling me the angel is going to have my soul if I'm naughty," he said. "I might as well tell you they think up in heaven that I'm bad."

"But why should they think that?"

"Because I haven't said my prayers for two weeks."

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful art student, and Peter Anson, a struggling sculptor, fall in love and marry secretly, deciding to live apart until the time comes when they can support themselves. Camilla, the adopted daughter of wealthy parents, is not to inherit money when she comes of age. She is preparing herself to work as a commercial artist, hoping to get a job to enable her to support herself. She has been making the rounds of the agencies. Peter, working in a studio on an easel, has a figure with which he hopes to win a scholarship to study abroad, receives a call from a beautiful model, Sylvia Todd, who offers to work for almost nothing. Peter will employ her, but cannot afford to pay her model, but promises to think it over.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XX.

When Sylvia Todd had gone, Peter paced the floor in agitation. Her visit had resurrected again that fondest dream of his life—to study abroad with Despone and work at the Trocadero. Of course, entering the exhibit did not guarantee the opportunity, but he believed that he stood the chance.

With his thoughts to Camille, he had put that hope aside resolutely. Should he win the scholarship, it would mean that he must take Camille with him and support her, or leave her behind. He could not do the former and he would not do the latter. So he had convinced himself that there was little chance of his winning, and decided to devote his time to more remunerative pursuits.

Whether or not Camille wanted him to feel responsible for her, he did, and he must see to it that he could take care of her soon. Furthermore, he had resolved that if art for art's sake did not begin to pay dividends soon, he would commercialize it.

But Sylvia Todd—beautiful girl—had stirred again that greatest ambition which he would have sacrificed to nothing in the world except his love for Camille. He was restless all day, could not work in the studio. He went to the park after his class and wandered about aimlessly, thinking, debating what he should do. Perhaps if he entered the exhibit and lost, it would be the best thing for him, after all. He would have the satisfaction of knowing that he could not have gone abroad, anyway. At least, he would be more settled and content.

Strangely enough, when he saw Camille that same evening, it was she who introduced the subject that weighed most heavily upon his mind.

"Peter, why, Peter, have you decided anything about your entry for the exhibit?" "I have not strayed to the park, where it was slightly cooler. The day had been oppressively warm and the studio stifling."

He started, as if she had struck him, for he was still revolving the subject in his mind. "Funny you should ask that, when I've just been thinking about it all day."

"What about you? Are you thinking about it?" she asked, surprised.

"Because I had stopped thinking about it quietly."

Camilla faced him. "Stopped thinking about it?" Why, Peter Anson! Since when?"

He avoided her eyes. "Well, I thought I hadn't much show of winning and—"

"No one has better," she contradicted him.

"There will be more entrants than usual this year. The closer money is, the more there are who try for scholarships."

"And what if they do? Even if you should not win, you could lose nothing."

"And if I should win—" he hesitated.

A moment of poignant silence and then Camilla understood. "Is that what has troubled you? Oh, Peter, darling, why didn't you tell me?" she cried with concern.

"But you know, dear, that you are more important to me than the National Scholarship. Winning it would mean that I go to Paris for a year—and I couldn't take you with me."

"Why, Peter you 'have' to try for it. And if you win—well I'll manage somehow," bravely. "Oh, I never should have married you, Peter. Already, I am ruining your life."

"Please, Camilla, don't say that. Why if you want me to try, I shall. But that doesn't mean I'll win, you know."

"And if you don't your work will attract attention—perhaps sell for a good price. Peter, what do sculptors get for their work? I haven't the slightest idea."

"And you married a sculptor?" he asked, amazed.

"I married the man I love."

"You darling!" he drew her close into his embrace and rested his lips on the top of her fragrant hair, reverently.

"But you didn't answer my question," she insisted from the curve of his shoulder.

He laughed. "Well, the rewards of sculptors vary about as much as those of any profession of the arts. Much depends upon the needs and resources of the patron, the popularity of the artist and the critics. One jazz band can command thirty thousand a week; another is glad to accept one thousand. Their merits may or may not compare. It depends upon other conditions. Chester Dale did a piece of work last year that sold to the Winter Galleries for forty thousand dollars. It was marvelous, of course, but it cost him a fortune."

"That would be beautiful," she exclaimed softly.

"But nudes always are favored," Peter continued. "Of course, they are more difficult, and should be. For such a figure I had an idea of youth symbolized as drinking eagerly of life—a girl poised on tiptoe and her hands holding to her hips a graceful chalice a fused steel—"

"That is lovely, too; perhaps better than the other. You must decide. You do have marvelous ideas, darling."

"Have you something different, that is better?" she declared quickly. "Oh, Peter, you will be famous. Nothing can stop you."

Holding her in his arms, her words were so convincing that his hopes leaped to new heights and he was again sure of himself.

"Nothing shall," he vowed.

"Have you planned what you will do?"

"I had several ideas before I tried to stop thinking about it. What really got me going again was a model who came in this morning and wanted work. She said she heard I was entering the exhibit and needed one."

"You will, won't you?"

"Of course. But I don't see how I can afford—"

"You will have to manage somehow, Peter. I'll help you. I'm sure I shall find some work soon, and that will help both of us."

"Not much," little lady. Aren't you refusing to let me take care of you? I'll do the same."

"But that's different," she objected. "That would not be taking care of you—it would be an investment in your future."

The same circumstances by any other name would make me just as dependent. No—I'll work it out some way, as I should have done without you. Wasn't that our plan and agreement?"

"All right," agreed Camilla. "And the model will she do?"

"Couldn't be better," he replied. "Would you believe it, dear, the poor kid was hungry and had walked all the way to the seventy-fifth street?"

"And you turned her away?"

Say, what do you think I am—a Scrooge?" he laughed. "No, I gave her a dollar for some dinner and told her I'd let her know tomorrow if I could use her."

"A good start," she chided him. "You were pretty sure you would need her."

"No, I never would have decided if you had not urged me. I'm sorry I didn't talk it over with you before."

"Please always talk over everything with me, Peter, won't you? Isn't your interest mine, too?"

"Of course, forgive me, dearest."

But I thought I was protecting you in this."

"Don't you suppose I should have been very much grieved if I had discovered too late that I had kept you out of the exhibit?"

"I see your side of it now, yes. I'm sorry."

"There are always two sides to anything which concerns you and me, Peter. Remember that, won't you?" she pleaded anxiously.

"Always," he pledged, with a firm, hard kiss.

Presently, he said. "Now help me decide about the subject. Of course, a fountain idea is always good stuff. I don't dare to plan for more than one figure because I couldn't afford several models..."

"But you must not sacrifice success to a meager expense like that," Camilla objected vehemently. All her life, she had been accustomed to extravagance and luxury of the sort in which the Elstons indulged, and this realization of what a little money could mean to an ambitious youth, appalled her. She rebuked at the "greedy" notion of it.

"I don't think that will be necessary," she reassured her. "I had thought of making a full figure standing, wearing a draped tunicadonna-like, pouring water from an urn into the upstretched hands of a child, with a smaller child kneeling below and catching the water again in its cupped hands, gleefully. Whoamouring out her life to youth."

"That would be beautiful," she exclaimed softly.

Five-Year Average Shows Companies' Losses $1.9 For Every Dollar Premium

In 1931 insurance on farm properties cost Canadian fire insurance companies $1.93 for every dollar paid in premiums. That was a high year. Over a five-year period from 1927 the average losses paid on farm properties amounted to $1.19 for every dollar paid in premiums. These were not the worst risks—tanneries, woolen mills, boot and shoe factories had decidedly higher losses—but they were in the unprofitable class by a big margin.

Personal and Local

Rev. A. S. Partington is a patient in the hospital, having undergone a minor operation on Monday.

Buck Eyesacker and Bud Clarke spent Sunday visiting the former's mother, Mrs. E. Eyesacker.

Hilcrest Hockey Club held a whist drive on Monday, Dec. 4, in aid of club funds.

Arthur Westworth entertained a number of friends on Sunday, Dec.
3rd, to celebrate his 18th anniversary.

Mr. G. D. Brophy, district passenger agent, C.P.R., Calgary, was a business visitor to the Pass Towns last Monday.

Miss Agnes Bellish entertained a number of friends at her home on Friday, to celebrate the 18th anniversary of her birthday.

The Journal is always pleased to receive social and local news items for this column. Phone 209 or mail to Drawer E.

Blairmore hockey team has been reorganized with Sam McDowell as president and Joe McDougall as secretary, which makes the latter's 11th term.

Sam Sagoff has about twelve men working at his prop camp about five miles south of town, across York Creek. He has a contract for cutting and hanging props for the International Coal Co.

The high school teachers of Blair-more are writing business and professional men to give additional addresses to students, and several have already promised to comply with their request.

It recently came to our attention that orders for personal greeting cards were given by some under the impression they were ordering from J. M. Allan, Associated Grocers. Mrs. Grant is the only agent authorized to solicits orders for The Journal.

Contracts for supplying approximately 16,000 tons of coal to provincial buildings were recently awarded by the Manitoba Department of Public Works. The awards included 4,000 tons of Blairmore Creek coal, and 3,000 tons of Michel coal.

A bridge party was held at Mrs.
Pattinson's on Nov. 25, at which the prizes were won by Mr. Clifford Hall, Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Mr. O'Brien and Mrs. Dewar being a bridge party, the prize-winners being Mrs. H. C. Mc-Burney, Mrs. Pattinson and consolation by Mrs. Hallwell.

Coke production in Canada during September was the highest reported for any month since September 1932.
1,550,000 bushels per day greater than the 1,26,639 tons produced in September of a year ago. Coleman's output from International mine has helped greatly in adding to increased production.

Attention is drawn to special features in the advertisement of J. M.
Allan, Associated Grocers. There is a large section of grocery which everyone will require for Christmas. The regular high quality of Associated Grocers products assures the public of the best values and dependability.

"Bill" McGrath has returned to town after five months spent in various parts of British Columbia, including the gold fields of Caribou. The gold he found in the old days and very little gold is harder obtained, so Bill decided to take a trip back to Coleman and see how things were faring here.

In talking to Mr. Charbonnier vice-president of West Canadian Collieries Ltd., it came out quite by accident that the name itself meant a "man who mines coal," charbon being the French for coal or charcoal. "You see," he remarked with a twinkle in his eye—"I was doomed!"—Western Canada Coal Review.

In September 1933 the output from Crows Nest (Alberta) mines was 54,- 408 tons, as against 61,973 in the same month of 1932. The domestic fields of the two plants showed an increase of 24,000 tons for September 1933, as against the same month of 1932. A reduction of railway mileage is responsible for the reduction of the bituminous coal consumption, which users of motor truck transportation in the Crows Nest Pass towns should take heed of.

Trade: J. O. C. McDonald, listed as "one of the City fathers"; J. D. S.
Barrett, president of Foothills Job
Print and Co., head office, Coleman; L. A. Manly, prominent member of the Board of Trade; E. Disney, coroner and justice of the peace;
W. J. Bartlett, third editor of the Cowley Chronicle and Lumberjack Advertiser; J. A. McDonald, editor of the Blairmore Enterprise and Frank Vindictor; T. B. Brandon, editor-in-chief; E. Johnson, foreman of the composing room; J. Sandler, collector (business must have been good in those days to require a collector); C. W. S. and many other interesting pictures of coal mining plants and buildings.

Coleman appears to have been very active with an enterprising group of business people, quite a number of whom have departed for other fields or who have passed over to the Great Beyond.
